

Project Human Nature Resort „Wolf Valley Ranch“

Where we started from

Three years ago, a group of friends from Germany bought a guest ranch at Bridge Lake in Canada, British Columbia. It includes three buildings, horses, 82 ha. of forests and meadows and a little lake. The dream of being a nature oriented farmer with a horse guest ranch embedded in a frame of ecological tourism, living and working within a harmonious community suddenly became true. This group of friends wanted more than just own the acquired land. They wanted it to be preserved and, if necessary, to be re-naturalized. Today the group wants to share the vision in a community project with people who have the same interest and focus: „Human Nature Resort

The Vision

Many people want to live in harmony with nature and at the same time in a community with people, where everyone is responsible and shares the same interests. Independent of and detached from imposed ideas and programs of how a society should function – which includes exploitation of nature and each other – there is the wish and a natural joy to live in peaceful cooperation and mutual esteem in a healthy nature environment. To respect the physical laws and to protect all life belong also to the sighting like the ecological cultivation of food, as well as the use of ecologically friendly and renewable energy to the independent, self responsible life supply. Another important concern is the common and spiritual exchange with people of a more peacefully culture as well as the future, creative development and enlargement of the idea "Human Nature Resort" in other countries. Humanly Nature Resort is a companionship project and would like to involve such people in it who are detached from selfish and material claims. People who want to serve nature and person to cheer all life on this earth with love, sympathy, esteem and respect so that they can find their place in a future community to share their talents.
